

AMENDMENTS TO SPECIFICATION

Please replace the paragraph beginning at page 2, line 1, with the following rewritten paragraph:

--According to a first aspect of the invention, a headlight for a vehicle, comprising comprises a support, a lamp having first and second light sources, a first reflective surface and a second reflective surface, the said reflective surfaces being adapted to cooperate with the first and second light sources to emit first and second beams, is characterised in that at At least the first reflective surface of the headlight is adapted to be displaced in rotation about an axis with respect to the support, whereby, when the vehicle is following a curved path defining a bend, the said first beam is adapted to be oriented towards the inside of the bend.--

Please replace the paragraph beginning at page 3, line 10, with the following rewritten paragraph:

--According to a second aspect of the invention, an assembly is characterised in that it comprises a headlight according to any one of the preceding features Claims together with a control member for rotating the said first surface.--